BE PART OF THE ANSWER

Your customers are asking. Find your angle.

GPTAd is being built to help founders, marketing teams, ecommerce brands, and agencies prepare for conversational advertising.

The shortlist starts with a question.

When customers ask AI for recommendations, their needs and tradeoffs shape the conversation. Bring that context into your next creative brief.

A planned workspace for research and creative exploration.

Intent research

Explore buying questions and the needs behind them.

Competitor insights

Find visibility gaps to guide further research.

Ad creation

Develop concepts and compare message angles.

From product to conversation.

Product brief → Customer questions → Message angles → Ad concepts

Illustrative workflow: a project tool for small creative teams → questions about collaboration → "Less managing. More making."

Explore early. Know what to expect.

In development. Plans and pricing will be announced at launch. Platform access and supported features will be confirmed before launch.

GPTAd does not publish campaigns today. Product previews use illustrative data; they are not live results or performance forecasts.

Help shape the workspace.
